Brief description of recipient's approach to ensuring that response is reasonable and proportional to a public health or negative economic impact of Covid-19	Increasing access to mental health care for youth facing these types of challenges is imperative. With COVID-19 cases remaining high and continuing to interrupt school, work, and after-school programming, it is vital that youth have timely access to the care they need, regardless of insurance coverage or income-status. 	Home visiting (HV) is a voluntary service provided by trained professionals to expecting parents, new parents,

Project Description	caregivers, and their young children through five years of age. The program is focused on community members who are considered 'at-risk' based on income level and other social determinants of health. CDH uses the Parents as Teachers (PAT) home visiting model. PAT is an evidence-based parent and family education model to provide personal visits in the family's home from certified parent educators. This model also engages at-risk families through group meetings; developmental, health, hearing and vision screenings; and linkages with other community support resources.

Brief description of structure and objectives of assistance program(s), including public health or negative economic impact experienced	Screening, Brief Intervention, Referral to Treatment (SBIRT) is an evidence-based approach to deliver screenings, early intervention, and treatment referral to people with substance use disorders (SUD) and those at risk of developing SUD. Youth are typically screened annually beginning at age nine, while visiting their pediatrician or primary care provider. This screening should continue through adulthood, and in many cases is built into the Electronic Medical Record.
Brief description of recipient's approach to ensuring that response is reasonable and proportional to a public health or negative economic impact of Covid-19	Recent evidence shows that SBIRT adaptation and implementation within youth-serving organization (schools, after-school, and out-of-school organizations) has been effective in identifying at-risk youth, since youth-serving programs often have more frequent interactions with young people than primary care providers. Schools and youth-serving organizations also have the ability and capacity to screen adults as they are often the centerpiece of a community.

Does this project include a capital expenditure?	Yes
What is the Total expected capital expenditure, including pre-development costs, if applicable	$0.00
Type of capital expenditures, based on the following enumerated uses	Parks, green spaces, recreational facilities, sidewalks
Capital Expenditure Justification	Garden City is an underserved, disproportionately impacted community that has a growing population. The community lacks sufficient green spaces and has limited access to free outdoor recreation and exercise opportunities. The limited public parks in Garden City are small and inadequate for meeting the needs of the growing population. Additionally, the existing parks are in areas that are not easily accessible to all residents. Limited free outdoor options impact the health and well-being of the community. Creating a free park in Garden City would provide space for residents to relax, socialize, and engage in physical activity promoting a strong, healthy, more active, and connected community.

Brief description of recipient's approach to ensuring that response is reasonable and proportional to a public health or negative economic impact of Covid-19	This community is located in a QCT and does not currently have a park that includes play equipment, recreational facilities, walking paths and greenspace found in neighboring cities. During the pandemic residents were limited on outdoor activities due to lack of access and available options.

	Leachate at the Ada County landfill is stored in leachate collection and evaporation ponds. As the landfill grows, the amount of leachate that is produced also grows. As Covid began to take hold, the amount of household trash coming to the landfill increased by 7% year over year and as a result,

Project Description	much more leachate was created. This increase, exacerbated by climate change making our seasons much wetter than normal, have pushed our current ponds past their current storage limits. We are reaching the point that leachate could overflow the pond and cause an environmental event. The event, which would be a contamination of the aquifer beneath the landfill would affect most of the residents of Ada County.

Project Description	The person who created this award had it classified under premium pay when it should have been this category. Adjusted to reflect appropriate category of incentive and retention bonus for current and new employees. Ada County Drug Courts provide evidenced based rehabilitative services recognized by the National Registry of Evidence-Based Program and Practices to offenders with medium to high criminogenic risk factors¹. The program has 14 counselor staff, and a supervising clinician, positions. However, the staffing shortages and hiring problems resulting from the pandemic have impacted the response in our substance abuse clinic. As a result, the remaining counselors provide services to 225 drug court participants. The work of substance abuse counselors has also increased because drug use has been on the rise during and after the lockdowns caused by COVID 19. Indeed, the CDC estimates that “more than 100,000 Americans have died of drug overdoses during the 12 months following COVID-19 lockdowns” (Altucker, 2021,² USA TODAY). Retention of substance abuse counselors is also problematic because these professionals work with a population that is immunocompromised and as a result, they are at a higher risk of contracting COVID. Indeed, an informal study we conducted a few months ago, showed that 9 out of 10 defendants coming out of the jail were Covid positive. Because of that, staff was exposed and had to quarantine. Others got sick for long periods of time. Sadly, some continue to fight long-term effects from Covid. The pandemic and the current job market have made it impossible for us to compete with other clinics. We cannot fill open positions and are struggling to retain current employees. The situation is not sustainable, and we cannot afford to lose more staff.

Project Description	Currently in design. There is a small plume of contamination beneath the capped Hidden Hollow landfill cell. There is a current treatment system in place that has reached its maximum capacity. This has allowed us to meet all compliance milestones and pull the plume back to landfill property. The addition of a larger water treatment plant will allow us to retire the old system while also being able to filter emerging contaminants such as PFAS and PFOS which, while not currently regulated, are the emerging contaminants that we have been notified will soon be regulated. Currently, several states are already regulating PFAS in water systems. It is the goal of the landfill to already be performing this mitigation prior the official regulations going into effect. The water will be drawn for our existing well system, be treated, and then be reinjected into the groundwater for usage by downgradient residents. Although all of the homes that could have been affected by the plume are now on city water for drinking, the ground water is still being used for irrigation at these residences.

NFP fills a critical role by connecting specially trained bachelor's prepared registered nurses (RN) with families for regular visits in the home to get the care and support they need to have a healthy pregnancy. Through regular visits, NFP nurses provide support, education, guidance, and encouragement to first-time mothers. Eligible participants must enroll no later than the 28th week of pregnancy and may remain enrolled in the program until their child's second birthday.

Description	Leachate at the Ada County landfill is stored in leachate collection and evaporation ponds. As the landfill grows, the amount of leachate that is produced also grows. As Covid began to take hold, the amount of household trash coming to the landfill increased by 7% year over year and as a result, much more leachate was created. This increase, exacerbated by climate change making our seasons much wetter than normal, have pushed our current ponds past their current storage limits. We are reaching the point that leachate could overflow the pond and cause an environmental event. The event, which would be a contamination of the aquifer beneath the landfill would affect most of the residents of Ada County.

Description	Emergency Medical Services EMTs, AEMTs, Paramedics, FTOs, Field Captain, and Battalion Chiefs are critically impacted by the workload created by the COVID19 pandemic. Providing coverage 24/7 is increasingly difficult because of the high call volume as a result of COVID19. Providing incentives similar to those offered by local health care service providers and the state of Idaho is necessary to maintain staffing levels to meet demand. Incentive pay will be offered for field staff to pick up overtime shifts to fill staffing vacancies and be available to ensure necessary ambulance services to respond to the increased demand. Description	Ada County is statutorily obligated to provide emergency medical assistance and nonmedical indigent assistance to its eligible residents. COVID-19 has resulted in harmful consequences for those with lower paying service jobs, who do not have insurance. COVID impacts have increased the need for indigent assistance, as those without medical insurance are often front-line workers and were at greater risk of COVID exposure. In addition, they bore the brunt of unemployment when businesses closed down, had resulting housing instability and the lack of financial resources to address medical needs. The County is the entity that provides payment for the needed medical assistance as well as for other needs.

Description	Broadband survey to determine if Ada County can acquire its own fiber optic network throughout the territory, which would allow us to provide new forms of services to our constituents. Options in the future once built, would be back hauled internet access for schools, free municipal Wi-Fi/private LTE networking for internet access – all while helping to bring broadband into areas of the county that are currently underserved with regards to connected broadband services. A partner of our choosing would help to expand the fiber optics into the areas identified.
